Alabama Senator Candidate for Democratic Presidential Nomination
Changes Idea on League
After Visit to Europe

BELIEVES IT WILL NOT BE ISSUE IN COMING CAMPAIGN

Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—That Senator Oscar W. Underwood, Alabama's candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination is no longer a strong advocate of the League of Nations was predicted by the Chicago Tribune today, saying in an interview. To the Senator, once element on the League, who was in Chicago on his way to Washington, from a fishing vacation in Wisconsin, was attributed the statement that he saw the League at work while he was abroad. "Development then and subsequently have changed my attitude," he is quoted as saying. "Failure of the League to function in the dispute between Italy and Greece had much to do with the changes." The Senator also said he did not think the League would be an issue in the approaching presidential campaign.

"ALFALFA BILLS" DREAM IS NEAR

Murray to Lead Group of Farmers in "Promised Land"

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 20.—Three hundred families have collected in a peace army which William H. ("Alfalfa Bill") Murray, farmer congressman of Oklahoma, will lead into the interior of Bolivia, south America, next month.

Other are expected to join the list before that day. By going together it will be possible to make the journey at small expense, the modern Oklahoma Moses points out.

To become a member of the colony, one must pass a thorough test in knowledge of farming and stock raising and must prove he has sufficient capital to pay his part in the undertaking.

Then the future colonist must sign an irrevocable contract to erect a home and till the soil and raise so many head of cattle before he obtains title to his land in the proposed colony.

Obtains Grant

Murray, for five years has passed more than half of his time in South America seeking the place in which to establish his colony. Finally he obtained from the Bolivian government a concession through which his colonists will be free from taxation and will be given special privileges for taking to that country pure bred stock and the best of grain seeds.

The proposed colony includes 197,000 acres in two tracts. Its lands begin within 10 miles of the border between Bolivia and Argentina and about 12 miles from the Bolivian town and wireless station of Yaula, just north of the twenty-second parallel of south latitude and east of 64 degrees west. The elevation is 2,552 feet and the land consists for the most part of level plains. The temperature is moderate the year round, the promoter says.

Socialism and communism will have no part in the movement. They are barred.

Known as "Sage"

"I hope to make it a colony of God-fearing Americans, who will prosper by thrift and hard work," Murray explains. "City men will not be permitted to go. We must have only those who know farming and stock raising."

Murray, in addition to being known as "Alfalfa Bill" because of his years of advocacy of the cause of farmers and ranchmen, also is known in his home town of Tishomingo, Okla., as the "Sage of Tishomingo."

Murray was president of the convention which drew up the constitution of Oklahoma and was speaker of the House of Representatives of that state's first legislature. He became a representative in Congress in 1913.

The names of the prospective colonists have not been announced by Murray, but he says two of them are former state officials of Oklahoma.

LADY NICOTINE NO
RESPECTOR OF AGE OR SEX IS SHOWN

Alleged evils of smoking are not confined to mature men, boys of school age nor the now ancient flapper. That the sensitive Lady Nicotine has extended her influence locally into hitherto unheeded quarters was evidenced by two widely different examples noted on Cumberland avenue yesterday.

The first was a small boy—he could not have been more than two or three years old—who was sitting in the doorway of a business house, placidly puffing a cigarette. Holding it between his fingers in the manner of an expert, he meditatively blew thin wreaths of smoke from his mouth and nostrils and watched them curl upward.

The other scene is not really local in character, except for setting. One of the gypsy fortune tellers—their numbers here are myriad and their tents springing up over night—was seen walking along the same street a few minutes later smoking a pipe. It was not one of the long-stem clay pipes familiar to our grandmothers, but a real he-man's French brier of long use, which, from appearances, had all the strength characteristic of their ilk.

COURT AUTHORIZES HARLAN CONTRACT

County to Pay $162,000 As Its Portion of Construction Charges Bids
Received Sept. 26

FRANKFORT, Sept. 21.—Contract with the state highway department for the construction of road from Page to Harlan was authorized by the board of county commissioners here last Saturday and Judge Harlan authorized to sign with the state commission to pay $162,000 for the county portion of the work. The rest of the funds necessary for the construction of the road is to be paid by the highway commission out of state and federal funds.

The authorized contract provides the payment of the $162,000 covers all indebtedness by the county to the state for road construction and maintenance to this date. Two thousand dollars were set aside for the purchase of right of way, which is to be handed over to the state without any complications.

The order was unanimously passed by the court with a full membership present, including Judge Bingham, Squires Millard Creech, Jacob Shultz, Charles G. Smith, Noah Howard, Garrett Taylor, C. C. Thompson, G. W. Fields and John L. Wilson.

Bids for grading and draining the road from Page to the Harlan county line will be received by the state highway commission next Wednesday, but it is probable that they will be studied carefully and contract not let until the October meeting of the commission, immediately after which the work is expected to begin.

A delegation from Colmar was present to protest against the Harlan road until provision is made for the Colmar road, but the court declined to promise and definite assistance at this time and intimated that the Colmar folk could go ahead with their injunction case if they saw fit.

Pineville will be the headquarters of the maintenance department of this road district for at least five years, when the court leased the old county garage to Will Tipton, in charge of the maintenance department for five years at a nominal charge of $1 a year. This will mean that all the maintenance equipment for the district will be kept here and brought here for repairs, insuring more prompt repair work for local roads and small payroll for the benefit of local merchants.

With plans for the Harlan road definitely settled work on moving along in fine shape on the Barbourville contract. The concrete crew is working back toward Flat Lick from this end of the contract, and with two asphalt crews at work, hope is held out that the new road may be open from Flat Lick to Barbourville within the next three weeks.

At the same meeting of the court, Judge Bingham, and Squires Creech and Howard were authorized to visit the county poor farm and report back to the court regarding conditions there.

The court will meet again early in October to pass on claims, all of which must be in the hands of F. A. Heath auditor, on or before September 24 if they are to be audited for payment at the October term.

UNFINISHED K. U.
MAIN HALTS WORK

Humbard Says East End Work Must Be Done Before Water Main
Work is Finished

Construction work in the East End is being delayed by the failure of the Kentucky Utilities company to complete their water main line to Tenth street, according to John L. Humbard. Two blocks of the water main have been laid but as this work is on the west end of that part of the street which is to be paved and the construction crew is working on the other end, they are not affected by this finished work. Mr. Humbard stated this morning that he would continue with the work and pave over that part through which the main would be placed, that he could not afford to hold up his work on account of unfinished K. U. work.

Efforts will be made to finish the paving work east of the ridge in order that all the machinery may be moved across the bridge. This will have to be done before the remainder of the old wooden structure is taken down.

After the machinery is all on the west side, work will begin on the new concrete bridge.

DEPOSITIONS FOR BOND SUIT TAKEN

Colmar Residents Will Carry Case to State Court of Appeals
Next

Depositions are now being taken for the final hearing of the quarter million dollar bond issue suit in the court of appeals, according to County Attorney T. G. Anderson.

Suits of this nature are usually of a formal nature, it being necessary to institute such proceedings in order that a judgment from the court may render the bond issue valid. This is a real suit, however, as certain private citizens of the Colmar district are making strenuous efforts to obtain half the State Park money for roads in their vicinity.

At the preliminary hearing which took place in Harlan recently, judgment was rendered in favor of the defendant, Bell county. The suit has been taken to the court of appeals, hence the necessity of procuring depositions for this final hearing.

ELECT COMPETENT SCHOOL BOARD

Five Members to Be Chosen in November for County—Colvin Urges Careful Consideration

The importance of choosing a proper county school board in the November election is stressed in a letter sent out to the press of Kentucky by George Cole, State Superintendent of the public schools. Five members of this board are to be elected to succeed the present members, Millard Kunkle, J. W. Ray, C. C. Thompson, W. T. Hobbs, and J. C. Hendrix.

Mr. Cole's letter follows:

"Permit me to remind you that at the coming November election there will be chosen in each county in Kentucky a county school board consisting of five members. City and graded school districts are independent of and not a part of the county school system. Each county outside of these five divisions, as nearly equal in population as practicable. In each of these divisions, the people will nominate by petition not more than 60 nor less than 15 days before the November election, one or more candidates for county board membership.

Any person over 21, having a common school education and living in the division he or she offers to represent and not in the employment of holding a contract with the county board of education, is eligible to fill this position. Names of candidates for county board membership in each division shall appear upon a separate ballot without party emblem. Each legal voter in each division shall be entitled to vote for one candidate living in that division shall be entitled to vote for one candidate living in that division. In other words county board members will be chosen by divisions rather than by the county as a whole. The county board chosen at this time will have the power to appoint the county superintendent in each county. The county board and the county superintendent together will have complete control of the schools of the county. The progress of the schools in each county for the next two years will be largely determined by the character of boards selected. It is to be hoped that in each county the people will select only those persons that are best qualified to serve on the county board. Some county superintendents will inevitably seek to continue themselves in office by securing the election of a board favorable to themselves. This can be done only through the indifference of the people.

"It is hoped that the press of the State, whose generous support of our public schools has been our greatest asset, will bring the matter to the attention of the people and will impress upon them the importance of the selection of the best possible board in each county. The people should understand that they are in reality electing a county superintendent as well as a county board. We believe that any publicity that you give to the matter will be a real contribution to the welfare of the Kentucky children.

"Sincerely,
"GEO. COLVIN,
"State Superintendent."

CENTER OF ATTRACTION

The Harvest Festival which is now in full swing had a large attendance today. The grounds were crowded with people all day. All exhibits have been entered and are now on display, all merchants booths have been attractive, arranged and the place now has the appearance of a real fair. The Battle Royal, set for 1:45 p. m., had not taken place at 2 o'clock today.

The Indiana Entertainers have been giving concerts all day; there have been several humorous contests and all visitors have a good time.

Sam Anderson, chairman of the judging committee, stated this afternoon that all judging would be done today and the prize winners announced tomorrow.

The guessing contests became so popular yesterday that others were started last night and today. At the Shelburne booth there is a large glass bowl filled with small pieces of candy. A prize is offered to the person making the nearest guess. A similar contest is conducted at the Dixie Hardware booth where there is a jar filled with horse-shoe nails. At the K. U. booth many registrations are being made in the lucky number contest in which a bonfire lamp will be given away Saturday night.

All the merchants' booths have been arranged with attractive displays. Some of these were not ready yesterday.

Many different breeds of beautiful fowls are on display.

The program of amusements opened this morning at 10:45 with the pie eating contest. Some colored boys participated in this, also the molasses eating contest. Both contests were thoroughly enjoyed by the spectators.

Five women took part in the whistling contest. Mrs. J. M. Hamilton of Shawnee outwitted the other four and the two pound box of candy was given her as a prize. These products are displayed in a very attractive manner.

There is a Hercules powder display at the booth of the Middlesboro Hardware company. A number of their products, such as permissible and black powder and other explosives are on exhibit. The remainder of the booth is occupied with Genesee paint display in charge of the Louisville Paint Co. and display of Barber-Asphalt roofing products.

This store also has an attractive guessing contest in connection with the display. A pair of five dollar silk hose will be given to the person who guesses the nearest to the number of invalid pieces in the Oriental mosaic box.

er Products company shingles, in the front of their booth. There are also displays of bricks and of roofing materials.

BANK CASHIERS POORLY PAID

State Commissioner Says Salaries
Lowest Any Other Life Position in State

By Associated Press.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Sept. 21.—Cashiers of state banks are the "most poorly paid of any other business or professional occupation considering their responsibilities, their social and moral obligations, the dignity of their positions and the quantity of work most of them have to do," W. W. Peavy, house, deputy state banking commissioner, said in a statement issued here today. In his statement, Mr. Peavy, however urged directors of the state banks to look into the question of salaries paid cashiers.

"In the majority of instances most or the responsibility of managing and operating banks is placed by the directors upon cashiers," Mr. Peavy-house said. "The cashiers must assume the burden of passing upon and making loans. He is held responsible for keeping the records of the bank in proper conditions. It is he who must take most of the blame if the business of the bank does not grow as it should. If the bank suffers losses on account of bad loans, or if adequate dividends are not paid out of the stockholders, the cashier in most cases is held to answer."

"Notwithstanding all of this, it remains a fact that the salary the cashier received for his services in many instances is miserably small. Short sighted directors are to blame for this condition in practically all cases where this is true. They cannot see that to pay a reasonably good salary will secure or retain the services of the most competent man. They do not realize that a cheap man is in the majority of cases much more expensive than a man who can command a much higher salary."

"A recent survey of the reports of the state banks of Kentucky shows the following facts with reference to the salaries of bank cashiers, the comparisons being made on data of 450 banks:

Thirty-seven banks are paying salaries of $900 to $1200 per year; 71, $1300 to $1500; 120, $1600 to $2000; 107, $2100 to $2500; 56, $2600 to $3,000; 12, $3000 to $5000; 1 is paying salaries of over $5,000 per year.

ENTHUSIASTIC CHORAL CLUB
REHEARSAL HELD LAST NIGHT

Despite the rain there were 27 members of the Middlesboro Choral Club who attended the rehearsal last night. There were among this number four new members, Mrs. E. W. Senter, Miss Mildred Kerr, Miss Mary Skeen and J. Stanley Wright. Prof. John F. Surmann was an interested and pleased visitor. It is among the possibilities that an orchestra in connection with the Choral club will be developed.

The various musical numbers were attacked with enthusiasm and much was accomplished in their mastery. The director, Prof. H. R. Carr, stated that so much enthusiasm was manifested that he kept the rehearsal going for longer time than he thought had elapsed.

SEPTEMBER

(Baltimore Sun)

Now from dreams of April
Wakes this world that seems
Mighty in a mist of stars
Paved with gold of dreams.
Now from storms of summer
And from paths of wind
In the woodlands in the deep
Cool of heart and mind;
Somewhat sadly straying,
Pondering, brooding—we Walk to meet September mists
And swim in beauty's sea

Horns on far hills blowing.
Flowers in meadows bright;
Longing for all-knowing
Hungry for all light;
Fields laid by for fallow
The toil of growth at rest;
Blown clouds o'er deep and shallow
Tired blooms on weary breast—
And then the night's wide glory,
The moon night walking straight
As in some ancient story
To heaven's tall ivory gate.

Old men guessing riddles,
And listening children near;
Grapes purpling in the hot moon,
Birds scenting unknown fear;
A moving beauty passing
With dim thrill everywhere:
As if it does, why care?
Oh, month of mist and magic,
So, treading gold, with song
Of something more than beauty
And lovelier than wrong

QUIT PULPIT TO FIGHT CRIME

GATTSVILLE, Tex., Sept. 20.—Sheriff W. W. Hollingsworth never was rough with a prisoner—never even spoke harshly to one, in fact. He never pulled a gun, never had a fight. He never swore, nor drank, nor smoked. He lives by the Golden Rule. Yet he always "gets his man" and he never let a captive escape.

A Texas sheriff, at that!

Sheriff Hollingsworth was a Baptist clergyman until his election eight years ago. He hasn't had time to preach since, but he thinks he does more good as sheriff than he could in the pulpit. What's more, his Golden Rule methods have proved a success. Crime has fallen off in Correll county under his regime and the criminal docket is absolutely clear, which is unusual anywhere in the United States.

KIWANIAN ANALYZES AMERICAN CONSTITUTION, SHOWS PRIVILEGES GRANTED, RIGHTS SET FORTH IN IT

By Charles Reynolds, Kiwanis Club member of the Middlebury, Vermont.

On September 17, 1777, the Continental Congress of the United States, in the city of Lancaster, Pennsylvania, adopted the Declaration of Independence. This document, which is the basis of our government, sets forth the rights of the people and the duties of the government. It is a document of great importance, and it is one that every citizen should read and understand.

The document is divided into three parts. The first part, the Preamble, sets forth the purpose of the government. The second part, the Declaration of Independence, sets forth the rights of the people. The third part, the Bill of Rights, sets forth the duties of the government.

The Preamble states that the people of the United States have ordained and established this Constitution. It is the duty of the government to protect the rights of the people and to maintain the peace and order of the nation.

The Declaration of Independence states that all men are created equal and that they are endowed with certain unalienable rights, among which are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. It is the duty of the government to protect these rights and to maintain the peace and order of the nation.

The Bill of Rights states that the government shall not infringe upon the rights of the people. It sets forth the duties of the government and the rights of the people. It is a document of great importance, and it is one that every citizen should read and understand.

GYPSY PRINCESS DOESN'T WANT TO BE LIKE "OTHER GIRLS" AFTER TRIAL

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—The gypsy life is the life for me, says the flapper daughter of King Tony Lombardi, owner of a popular club in Chicago.

A lot of home room and three days will find her from the freedom of the open road, and the desire in the heart of the young flapper to be like a gypsy.

Bread and Meat As Food

Both children and adults eat too much meat. Meat's food value is well established, but although it contains more fat than bread, carbohydrates and minerals are practically lacking in it.

Bread has been termed the staff of life, and in many countries where meat is not obtainable or used as food, bread or its equivalent in the starch and sugar (carbohydrates) is just that. In such countries the fats are furnished chiefly by oil.

The relative value of these two foods as builders of body strength and blood or working power is of great importance to all workers, as well as to men in all classes.

While bread is one of our chief foods in America, as it comes from the miller with some of its nutritive value taken out by milling, its composition is such that 100 parts is 11 parts mineral matter, 12 parts fat, 92 parts of protein, 35 parts of water, 71 parts of carbohydrates.

Bread has a fuel value of 1215 calories per pound.

Ordinary food, steak, contains about 84 parts of mineral matter, 12 parts of protein, 9 parts of fat, 188 parts of protein, 625 parts of water, and has a fuel value of 745 calories per pound.

The quantity of protein in meat (nutritious and albuminous parts of food) is nearly twice as great as that of bread. This is the building material of the body. However, a half pound of bread will furnish enough protein for the necessary requirements of the hard working man for a day.

Our food experiments have determined that the protein of bread and potatoes or meat have practically the same food value.

The taking of all food elements into consideration bread is more valuable than meat. It contains more lime and mineral elements than meat. It is a food that is more easily digested and assimilated than meat.

Women Have No Time for Beauty In Russia Today, Baroness Says

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Russia's most beautiful woman, the Baroness Mara Jolice de Steinhell, has just arrived in America to start all over and make her fortune as a singer.

"Perhaps I was beautiful in the old Petrograd days," she admitted with an impersonal air. "Then the artists all wanted to paint me and men turned to look again as I passed, but in those days many Russian women were beautiful. Today none of them are."

"We have starved and suffered and starved and lost our faith. Our faces will not lie."

If the baroness has lost any of the vividness that made her the toast of the Russian capital in the pre-revolution days, she has retained enough to make most women envious of her.

How To Live?

"Since the Bolshevik regime, we women have not thought much about beauty," she went on. "We've been more absorbed in the problem of getting enough food from day to day and saving our lives."

"Those who once wore jewels and furs are grateful for a few rags to protect themselves from the cold. Stockings are a luxury few afford. Soap is so expensive, cleanliness is out of the question. Face powder is prohibitive in price and every woman is wearing her own complexion. Bobbed hair is the style because it requires less care."

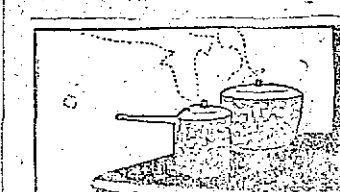

"The slender figure is in vogue because it is the result of starvation and deprivation."

BARONESS STEINHELL

But one good thing has come out of all this chaos.

All Can Work

"Every Russian woman has learned to work," the baroness says.

"Women who speak languages usually can find employment in the government offices. Those who can sew can earn their bread. Others must cook, wash, scrub."

The baroness, escaping from Russia, became a seamstress and dishwasher in a Constantinople restaurant. When the proprietor found she could speak several languages, he put a sign in his window saying all these languages were spoken in his place.

"Frequently," she said, "I was called from my scrubbing to act as interpreter."

Though her jewels were confiscated, she has brought with her an interesting collection of peasant costumes and headresses and plans to wear the old native Russian dress at her recitals.

SISTER Mary's KITCHEN

Pumpkin Pie

"When the frost is on the pumpkin" most men-folk begin to think it's time for pumpkin pie. And most of these men know nothing whatever about the baking of these pies, have very definite ideas on the subject. They agree that the pies should be "thick" meaning an inch and a half deep, that they should be creamy and smooth and not too stiff, but by no means "watery." And then they disagree when it comes to seasoning. Some like them dark with spice and others say "No mixture or strong spices in my pumpkin pie."

So, for the benefit of the woman who "strives to please" these recipes are offered.

Yankee Pumpkin Pie

Cut pumpkin in narrow strips. Remove seeds and pare. Cut in dice. Put in a kettle and stew covered until tender. Enough water to prevent burning must be added to the pumpkin. An iron kettle is best to stew pumpkins in because the pumpkin can be cooked drier and acquire a darker color without burning or scorching. It takes almost a day really to "stew" a pumpkin. Rub through a colander or put through potato ricer.

One cup of sifted pumpkin, 1 egg, 2 cups milk, 2-3 cup sugar, 1 scant teaspoon ginger, 1-2 teaspoon salt, rich pastry.

Line a deep pie pan with a rich pie crust. Beat egg slightly. Mix sugar, salt and ginger and beat into egg.

Add pumpkin and mix well. Stir in milk. Blend perfectly and pour into the pie shell. Put into a hot oven to bake the crust quickly. Reduce heat and bake until the pie is firm to the touch. This rule is for an eight-inch pie pan. If a larger size is used add more milk and sugar, salt and ginger. If three pies are needed 2 eggs, 2 1-2 cups pumpkin, 2 cups sugar, and milk to fill the pie pans in a good rule. One tablespoon ginger should be mixed with the sugar. If spices are desired add them to taste.

Puffy Pumpkin Pie

One cup sifted pumpkin, 2-3 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 1 1-2 cups milk, 1-2 cup cream, 1 tablespoon ginger, 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-4 teaspoon cloves, 1-2 teaspoon salt, pastry.

Beat yolks of eggs with sugar, salt and spices. Add pumpkin and milk and cream and mix thoroughly. Beat whites of eggs until stiff and dry and fold in mixture with rich pastry and bake in a hot oven at first and a slow oven to prevent the custard from watering.

Pie With Meringue

One cup sifted pumpkin, 2-3 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 2 cups milk, 1-2 teaspoon ginger, 1 tablespoon cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons powdered sugar, baked pie shell.

Beat yolks of three eggs and whites of two with sugar until light. Add pumpkin, milk, spices and salt and cook over a slow fire until thick and smooth. Turn into baked pie shell. Beat in sugar until stiff and dry. Beat in sugar and spread over pumpkin mixture. Bake eight minutes in a moderate oven to set and color the meringue. The last two recipes are sort of special company pies.

Perspiration and Digestion

Perspiration depends on the circulation of the blood. The body not only requires nourishment from the blood for cell growth and repair but also demands the separation and elimination of waste which cannot be converted into blood and which must be thrown off daily in the normal healthy person.

Perspiration is a continuous process, invisible during periods of inactivity or sedentary life. Better condition of play, exercise or work, even in middle age or infirm adults, which will promote a healthy circulation and convey an abundance of blood to the glands of the skin, is described for increased perspiration.

Physicians of the present day are well aware that the skin does not play the important part it was formerly supposed to perform in elimination. But it is a great cleansing agent and a sort of health barometer which clearly indicates a good circulation by normal perspiration. In addition to this activity, it is better than any medicine in the preservation of health and prevention of disease. It may be said to remove the cause of many disorders such as body poisons, fat excess and clogged glands and is a means of giving renewed strength and body tone.

Perspiration assists the digestion by the promotion of a healthy appetite. The exhilaration and renewal of body and mind are also aids to proper digestion. Good appetite insures a good supply of blood for the body. Good food makes good blood. The life stream of good blood coursing through your body gives good skin activity by exercise and perspiration and so the wheels of body action are kept in healthy motion.

BUTTERCUP NAME FOR ICE CREAM

Mrs. F. D. Hart, Jr., Winner of Prize Offered for Name by Manning Company

"Buttercup," the name submitted in the Manning ice cream contest by Mrs. F. D. Hart, Jr., was decided by the judges to be the most appropriate name of the 200 submitted. The first prize, $20 in gold, will be awarded to her. The name of the new corporation will be the Buttercup Ice Cream Co.

"Kentucky Belle" was decided to be the next best name and the second prize, five gallons of ice cream, will be divided among Dan B. Richmond, of Ewing; Miss Louise Carr and James Thacker, all of whom submitted this name.

In order that the decision should be rendered in a perfectly fair manner, names submitted by contestants were written on a large sheet of paper and the judges decided the winner without knowing the author of the titles. Mrs. Rice Johnson, Mrs. W. T. Davis and Mrs. J. G. Jeffries of Pineville and Mrs. J. T. Alderson, Mrs. Jacob Shultz and Mrs. C. K. Broshier of Middlesboro were judges. Unable to get together on the matter, the judges communicated by telephone.

Judge J. L. Manning is highly pleased with the choice. All the names submitted were good, he said, and as many as eight persons submitted the same names.

AL SPENCER DEAD
LIFE IS RECALLED

AL SPENCER
BARTLESVILLE, Okla., Sept. 21—

It's Al Spencer's life people talk about now. Not his death.

This super-bandid, victim of a diseased mind and a misguided love of adventure, was the inspiration for years for writers of dime novels. Now he is gone—shot down on a highway near here as mercilessly as one would kill a poisonous snake.

Yes, Al Spencer's gone, as they say out here. And townspeople are breathing easier. For the terror of the Osage in no more.

They called him "Will-o'-the-Wisp" Spencer. He who robbed banks, looted stores, scaled prison walls, and fled to the hills.

Young, romantic, fearless—he couldn't help appeal to that portion of the population of the country that fed on false idolatry.

"Someone may get me," he always said. "But I'll manage to get someone while they're doing it."

But he didn't.

Shot Down
The end came suddenly. Trapped on the Washington-Osage road by Marshal Alva MacDonald, and a group of others whose duty it is to rid society of human menaces, he broke to flee. Sharp commands to halt met only with the bark of a rifle in the hands of the bandit. A half dozen gun spoke, and Al fell.

Banks especially are glad it's over now. They had many rewards posted for his capture, "dead or alive." For Spencer was the most notorious raider since the days of the James and Dalton brothers. The government recently added $10,000 to the general reward.

He operated in the southwest, Oklahoma being his favorite state. For then he could raid and dash to the Osage Hills, where he knew every craig, cliff and cave. He has been reported in Kansas, Texas, Arkansas and Missouri.

Recently he walked into one of the highest hotels in Oklahoma City. He talked with several persons, smoked a cigar, and drove away.

At times he would adopt the modern bandit's motto. But once his "work" was done, once the "job" was pulled, he would mount his horse—just like they do in the movies.

At his death he was 36. He had the typical cold steel gray eyes of the bandit—the kind that shine hatred of law and its consequences.

Escaped

Spencer started his derring-do career in youth. His escapades were famous when he was arrested as a cattle rustler at Nowata, Okla. Given a 10-year term he finally was made a free man. That trust was misplaced—for Spencer disappeared.

Then commenced a long list of raids, and one escape from prison. Dozens of banks fell his victims, it is said. At twenty he was shot down, but dragging himself to his horse escaped.

He had his own gang, hand-picked for individual cruelty, desperate characters willing to take chances, and born to the thieves' code of "once captured, never talk."

It is said Spencer had a romance in his life. The girl thought to have won his heart now is under arrest, captured during a train robbery at Okesa.

When killed, Spencer had $10,000 in bonds.

Andrew Michiel, Charles Rosley, Elbert McJee and Jay Russell, charged with drunkenness, were fined $14.25. Jack Mayes, charged with disorderly conduct, was fined $71.25.
